Morgue Place of Tragedy in Chicago

By EDMUND D'MOCH

CHICAGO (AP) — The acrid stench of burned bodies and clothing hung heavily over the morgue at the Cook County Hospital today.

Inside, scores of priests and hospital attendants tried to comfort bereaved relatives still trying to identify the bodies of schoolchildren who died in Monday's fire at Our Lady of the Angeles Roman Catholic School.

Ninety sheet-covered bodies lay on stretchers in three rooms of the morgue basement. Some had been identified within hours after the fire.

Some fire-blackened bodies con-torted in agony may never be from burns, broken bones received in frantic leaps for life and shock. In the Cook County Morgue, sheet-covered little corpses, a few charred nearly beyond identification, still lay waiting to be identified by tearful parents.

A special detective task force joined firemen in seeking out the cause of the catastrophe.

The fearful speed with which the blaze devoured the Our Lady of the Angeles Roman Catholic School led Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn to consider arson. Billowing black smoke indicated an oily fire, he said.

Quinn called the blaze "the worst thing I have ever seen or ever will see."

Drew Brown, head of the police arson squad, said a rubbish blaze could have started it.

Brown said he learned a student was instructed to burn some rubbish in a concrete pit near the two-story brick building's northeast stairway about 2:20 p.m.

Some 20 minutes before the fire broke out, The vicinity of the northeast stairway was where the fire apparently started, Brown said.

Just 18 minutes was the difference between life and death for the 1,300 students and black-robed teachers in the school. The first box alarm was turned in at 2:42 p.m. The school let out at 3 p.m.

Within minutes the building turned into a wild, screaming inferno. Smoke and heat filled staircases and second-floor corridors so fast that normal exits were impassable.

Among white-clad nurses and other attendants could be seen the frocked figures of priests. There was one, his arm around the shoulder of a weeping woman, trying to console her.

"It was the will of God," was heard in a low whisper from the priest. "Your daughter is in heaven."

The woman wept unrestrainedly. From the other side of the room came a shriek. A woman collapsed and immediately attended to and administered smelling salts.

Nearby stood a couple in their 40s. Pale, dry of tears, they listened a rosary, their lips moving wordlessly. The man had said earlier his daughter was not reported in any of the half-dozen hospitals to which many of the children had been taken. The couple came to the morgue, but had not looked at any of the unidentified children.

They were praying she still might have only been injured, perhaps still in a hospital through some mixup in names.

"Your Highway Commission has been most concerned with its inability to construct roads at the rate needed by our people, because revenues have not been adequate to meet the need for highway funds."

"During the past fiscal year alone the Highway Department was unable to match $10,713,877 of the 1937-38 federal air apportionment of $37,302,672."

Wallace's letter also quoted from a report by a firm of consultants hired some time ago to study the highway user tax picture in Arkansas.

"In the 18-year period through 1971, estimates of requirements for construction and maintenance of the state highway system total about $1,104,000,000, of which Arkansas will be required to raise an average of approximately $35,500,000 per year."

"The report said that if Arkansas is to meet these needs, extra revenues of 10 million dollars per year above income in 1937-38 will be needed."

Wallace pointed out: "...If the Legislature will make available to the commission the entire total sum of $7,700,000 annually, it is believed that revenue growth which is a natural result of better roads will be sufficient to realize the total need during the 15 year construction program."

Unbeaten LSU Nat'l Champ in Last Poll

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Louisiana State, the nation's only major unbeaten, tied team, ran up an overwhelming plurality in the final Associated Press college football poll of 1958 to win its first national championship. The Baton Rouge, La., team of the Southeastern Conference collected 130 first-place votes from among the participating 212 sports writers and broadcasters.

Town finished second, followed by Army, Auburn, Oklahoma and the Air Force Academy.

Louisiana State will receive the second Associated Press national football championship trophy, Auburn won the first last year.

LSU rolled over 10 opponents, opening with a 26-6 victory over Rice Sept. 20 and closing with a 62-0 annihilation of Tulane Nov. 22. The Tigers had only two close pick. Green Bay selected the 21-year-old Big Ten star.

Then Bell and the owners excluded themselves in executive session. Apparently there was fire works. Bell told the press: "I told them (the owners) to stop squabbling or they could have my job."

Bell attempted to smooth over the dispute by describing it as a heart-to-heart confab with his bosses. He said he wasn't angry, didn't threaten anyone.

"I told them I didn't want to be a czar. I have always tried to run this league by persuasion," he said.

"I told them the individual bickering among owners, the squabbling by coaches has got to stop. If it doesn't I'll have to run the league by the book instead of persuasion. If I can't run the league the way the book says, I will give up my contract."

The owners relented, so Bell reported, by giving the commissioner a unanimous vote of confidence and told him to operate by the book come winter.

The $50,000-a-year commissioner said he was annoyed by accusations made by owners against each other and against him. He intimated someone called him a stooge. He said he was annoyed with coaches squawking about officials.

Major Colleges Get Cage Play Underway

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was the start of a brand new basketball season, but some- how the names seemed familiar.

When major college courts, restricted by NCAA rules to Dec. 1 start, charged into action Monday night, two All America players of the 1957-58 season, Cincinnati's husky Oscar Robertson and tiny Don Hein- rich, again were listed among the leading sharpshooters. And who were the winners?

Why, West Virginia, the nation's No. 1 team, last season in The Associated Press ranking poll; Kentucky, the NCAA champion; Cincinnati and Kansas State, rated No. 2 and 3 last spring; and just about all the other perennial winners.

West Virginia, winning its 37th consecutive game in Southern Conference competition, lost an early lead against Furman and trailed by a point or two through most of the second half. It wasn't until three Furman players had been benched after accumulating four personal fouls that West Virginia drew away to win 76-67.

Robertson, 15 pounds heavier than last season and playing a new role as pivot man, paced Cincinnati to a 93-64 victory over Indiana State. He needed less than a half to rack up the 10 points he needed to pass the 1,000 mark.

Fall Bob Bozzer of Kansas State scored 45 points for a school record as the Wildcats downed Purdue 98-83 in a rough game in which the lead changed hands 16 times during the first half. Bozzer counted 23 points from the foul line.

Kansas, with Ron Loneski taking up some of the slack caused by the departure of Wil Chamberlain, whipped Rice 65-49, Nebraska routed Northwest Missouri State 85-44 and Iowa State beat South Dakota 63-54.

Henn, Pitt's 6-8½ sharp shooter, tossed in 28 points while his team was losing to Michigan 75-55. Kentucky, minus most of the stars of its championship team, won its first straight conference game, beat Florida State 91-69.

Indiana's 1959 Big Ten champion, another team that has lost heavily, called on sophomores to win. Drake 68-59.

North Carolina State, usually a Southern power, opened with a 70-54 victory over Penn State.

Mrs. Agnes Muldrow died at her home Sunday, Nov. 30. Funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced by Hicks Funeral Home, Inc.

Qualified draft rules permitting any number of picks from the same club as long as the players had been moving ball for four years. The three teams were Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League and Charleston, W. Va., and Wichita of the American Assn.

For the first time in many years — if ever — two men who were on major league rosters when the draft started showed up in the minors and rebounded to the big time all in a minute or two.

When Milwaukee selected outfielder Jim Pisoni from Richmond (he hit .313 at Denver), the Braves were over the 40-man limit. They had to get a man so they ticketed first baseman Earl Hersh to Wichita.

Detroit promptly picked up Hersh, putting the Tigers one over the limit. So they transferred Lou Skizas to Charleston. Almost immediately Skizas was drafted by the White Sox, who also took Claude Raymond, a right-handed pitcher, from Wichita.

The American Assn. will try to fix up all clubs next season, have the acquired Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth from the Texas League for a total of $10,000. The major realignment finally was accomplished Monday.
